WASHINGTON — The secato's "bad noy Huey" landed a hard one to the jaw of his political oppoments before leaving Washington to do a little private "kings shing" around the Louisiana state legislature now in session at Baton Rouge.

For the time being, at least, Secator Long has blocked successfully one and perhaps two nominations for choice political plums in his state, made without his advice or CORSAS! A senate committee rejected as anti-Long man chosen as U. S. attorney for eastern Louisiana by the administration after the senator had said he was "personally chaquions" to him. It was the time-honored traditions of the senate rather than any effort put forth by Long, however, that made victory possible for him IN that case.

There's an unwritten rule in the senate that when one of its members enters a personal protest against a proposed appointed his wishes are respected.

An Old Senate Custom

ENSIDERS say had it not been for this fact there would have been little difficulty in getting the nomination confirmed. Senators were unwilling to break this hard and fast "gentleman's agreement" however much they might have enjoyed spanking Long. eanking Long.

As to the other nomination—that of collector of internal revenue for Louisiana-a lintle different stration prevails. This one has cleared the committee hurdie, after days of stormy going, and rests on the semare's executive calendar.

Long claims privately to have sufficient votes to defeat this nonmation on the four of the senate when it comes up. He says he is ready for a showdown at any time. Despite the fact this particular somination heads the executive calendar, it has been passed over. Leaders claim they desire to get precaing legislation out of the way before bringing it up.

Long and his associates believe the nomination will be permitted 0.77 er to die by failure to vote on it this session or by recommittat.

Sweet Pea From Sicily The sweet pea is a native of the island of Sicily and was first meationed in 1695 by an Italian monk, who sent seeds to England and Holland. The seeds of sweet peas became an article of commerce as early as 1724. Sweet peas have been grown for over a century in America and all of the varieties known in Europe were grown here. There was a wave of popularity for the sweet pen in America between 1885 and 1990, while the tide, which received its great impetus through the introduction of the waved or Spencer type, was just beginning to rise at the sweet pea celebration in London in 1900.

Honey Bear looked down. At first she couldn't see Jupiter as her eyes weren't used to the darkness, but Jupiter had heard his mother's voice, and the poor little Bear felt that Honey Bear, his dear mother, would save him.

"Are you hurt, my precious cub?" she called down the well.

"No-o-o, I don't think so," answered Jupiter. "But I'm frightened. The bucket came all the way down and the well is so deep. It's so dark here and the sides of the well are so slippery. Will you be able to get me up, Mama? And the bucket has water in it, too, now. I'm cold."

His voice sounded so small. Honey Bear must think, and think quickly.

"I'll save you," she called down to Jupiter, "I'll save my little Jupi-ter." The cub felt better now. But how was she to do it? She must save him-but how?

No previous political event since the present administration began produced such a salvo of republican statements hitting at the Roosevelt policies. Some came from party leaders who had been most cautious theretofora about attacking the President.

So a revived party spirit is the practical result, quite regardless of the soundness of the reasoning which brought it about.

. . . Will It Last?

THE next question is whether this new enthusiasm will survive the controversy which prouises to develop at the June meeting of the republican national committee in Chicago.

Senator Read rates himself as an orthodox republican. He is a friend of the Mellons. He was, on occasion, a spokentsan for the Houver admissistration. He holds to the tradicional republicas policies es such subjects an extremely, taxation, and the tariff.

There are many in the party who want to get away from those traditions. They went the Chicago mosting to choose a chairman, and the 1996 convention to choose a cardidate, leaning toward a new liberalism. They believe there is no hope

In order not to strike too quickly industry and commerce, the sponsors suggest that the measure enter into effect after a six-year reansitional period.

A Real Change

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH One of the first questions which arises in the spring is where and how to spend the summer vacation.

For many it is only a question of a few weeks for the adults, and three long months for the children. For others it means a change for the whole family, and for still others it is a problem of adjusting part of the household to the needs of a commuting father.

Many parents send the youngsters to camps where they can rough it. But to most people such a solution of the question is impossible, and now more than ever, because of the expense of such an

A little careful planning and thought on the part of the parents would often attain the same ends which a camp offers and at very lit-tle cost. In most vicinities there is enough uncultivated land to make it possible to rent a section, or even to find an abandoned house where a summer camp of one's own could be established.

Such a scheme would mean a basic change in living, for to make it a vacation for parents as well as children would necessitate a drap-tic simplification of life Clothing would have to be reduced to essentials and the family prepared to eat food which would require little preparation and cleaning up.

The children would have to be ready and eager to help with the work, just as in a camp, and all would need to be willing to cope with the inconveniences of wet weather and lack of many creature comforts.

But in the end the outing probably would pay for itself in the training it gave, as well as in the closer contacts young and old aifke would gain from it.

Code rules and regulations all so mysterious and vague were confusing to the board and left the members wonder-ing just what it was all about. An attempt by one of the oil company employes to explain the matter only cast more mystery on the matter and he finally concluded his explanation by saying, "it is rather complicated," stuck to the code and admitted identical bids with long letters of explanation stating what might be expected in the future if General Johnson was able to concoct some more rules and regulations to govern the solid fuel business. Four of the coal dealers submitted lower bids. but in view of the code situation and NRA regulations the board feit it better to make further investigation efore awarding contracts to the lower bidders and ascertain first whether these bidders would be able to supply coal at the prices quoted or whether the Blue Eagle might not awoop down and prevent delivery.

After the bid had been opened decided that possibly a special meet-ing should be held before that date. Bids Opened.

Demand for Horses Is

Found to Be Growing

Ames, Iowa.-Despite the tremendous increase in sales of automotive units, which might be supposed to indicate a decrease in the demand for real horse power, it was predicted here this week that prices for "chunks," the middle size horse employed on the farm, would be much higher during the next year or two.

The demand now is far ahead of the supply, it was said by Warne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, and by H. A. Aberg, state college authority.

In 1932 there were but 32 purebred stallions on the average in each lowacounty, against 100 in 1914, Iowa is indicative of conditions in other corn belt states.

The decrease in total number of horses has turned more than a million acres of land from pastures, on which the horses fed, to idle acres. Now, the farmers are buying more horses despite the fact that the demand for tractors is on the upgrade.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

SOME BAPIES LIKE SNAKES!

TWO groups of eighteen-months old infants were piaced in two see arate rooms—and snakes permitted to Fun around among them. Oh, yes, the snakes were harmless, had less possibility for harm even than any new born puppy:

Now for the result. The group of children from normal homes acreamed with fright. The other, consisting of hables born and raised in the hospital, allowed the snakes to crawl over them -- in fact, they "watched them with delight!"

The point made by the scientists who sponsored that experiment is that our fears are not natural or instinetive, but implanted. The babies in the hospital had been isolated from the "fear suggrations" against snakes which are planted in most children.

All that is, of course, of interest to us. What is more important to all of us, is the implications, which we cannot escape, that in every department

The worries which, according to doctors, are the chief burden of modera life, therefore the worries that kill, are the result of special fears. And so many of those special fears have no more basis in fact than the fear of children against the wiggling snake. So many of our fears are implanted and cultivated long before there can possibly be any sense to them.

It would be a good plan to "take inventory" of our fears, to bring them out in the open, set them up where we: can look all around them and analyza gravel. them and track them down-to what they really are.

There is one fear-or distrust, which in the same thing-that is perhana more of a burden to us in everyday; life than any other. That is the one that has to do with people because they happen to be different from ourselves. Adults in this enlightened day allow their viewpoints to be warped! by no more intelligent distrusts than that of the child who had a horror of any Chinese because "yellow men eat children" and of Italians because a demented Italian "burnt the barn down." Fear myths of that kind, of course, exist in direct proportion with ignorance. But there are some so deep-rooted emotionally that even education does not always eliminate them. We can combat them only by bringing them out in the open and testing ourselves. against them—the way scientists test to overcome their doubts.

SEVERAL GOOD THINGS

FOR a warm day try the following cooling and delightful dish: Jellied Consomme.

Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water. Dissolve in one quart of hot consomme. Pour into bouilion cups and chill, or pour into a shallow pan and when chilled cut into cubes or beat with a fork, before serving in the cups.

Cucumber Jelly.

i peeied cucumbers to make a pint, season with salt, pepper, paprika, olive oil and vinegar-two of oll and one of vinegar. Add one teaspoonful of gelatin softened in two tenspoonfuls of cold water, dissolve over hot water until soft, then add to the cucumber and mix well. In the bottom of each individual mold, place a half walnut meat, then pour in the cucumber mixture. Serve turned out on lettuce leaves and top with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise. A little grated onion added to the cucumber will improve it for most people.

Melba Pastry.

Take one cupful of oven-dried crumbs, when a golden brown put through a food chopper. Mix well with one-third of a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of claramon and four tablespoonfuls of butter. Line a large pie plate with the mixture and bake in the crust to cool, then pour in the cooled filling.

Banana Custard.

Slice three ripe bananas. Cook two beaten eggs, one-fourth cupful of cake crumbs and one cupful of milk two minutes or until the custard lightly coats the spoon. Add two teaspoonfuls of lemon rind and stir in the benanas. Pour into a greased baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake until the pudding is set. Cover with a meringue and brown,

SANITARY BROODER HOUSE IMPORTANT

Clean Well Before Chicks Are Placed in It.

By R. G. Ganger, Professor in Positry De-partment, North Carolina State Col-lega.--WNU Service.

The greatest chick losses occur during the brooding period which makes it necessary to clean the house thoroughly before the chicks are placed in it.

To go about having a sanitary brooder house the poultryman should first scrape all the old manure and dirt from the lower side walls and floor of the house and clean the water containers, mash hoppers and other equipment used in the house. After this thorough mechanical cleansing has been done, the lower side walls, floor, water containers, feeding equipment, brooder stove and canopy should by dissolving one pound of lye in tengallons of hot water. A stiff bristle broom may be used to apply the solution. This lye mixture will not only further cleanse the house but it also has germ-killing power. Where the poultryman has a fire gun, he may use this instead of the lye solution.

After the brooder house has been thoroughly cleaned, it must be cleaned again at intervals during the brooding period. If the house has a dirt floor, remove the top few inches and replace it with clean dry soll, sand or The use of wire frames on which to ers is also advised. The house needs to be free from drafts and if it is movable, it is well to take it to a new location after cleansing. Do not crowd the chicks in the house. About six square inches of floor space per chick is necessary for good health.

Not Benefit Laying Hens Dosing the flocks with drugs will not result in more eggs. That is the conclusion of the poultry department of Michigan Agricultural college. Egg production is a matter of inherited characteristics and of proper feeding. Mongrel birds are very apt to be unprofitable and hens which are compelled to forage for their living have little time to fill the egg basket.

Drugs do not change the factors inherited by hens nor do they supply needed food elements so the possibility of nostrums affecting egg production are very remote. Dr. H. E. Moskey, United States Department of Agriculture, says positively that no known drug or combination of drugs will increase egg production Rations for laying flocks must supply the food elements needed to maintain the body weight of the hen, to supply warmth and energy, and to supply the material contained in the eggs themselves. Good grains, green feeds, milk, shell, and grit furnish all the materials needed by the laying hen.

Diseased hens should be treated for the malady with which they are affected, and, in case of contagious discriminals may be hiding Dillinger. orders, proper sanitary measures should be practiced in the houses and runs where chickens are confined.-Indiana Farmer's Guide.

"Fading Out" Epidemic A recent survey covering five years of study in fourteen southern California poultry flocks including 14,733 birds shows a mortality in these flocks running from a minimum of 17.3 to a maximum of 61 per cent. This report is very disturbing and would indicate that something is radically wrong in handling breeding stock and birds intended for replacement. Mortality seems to have been steadily increasing for the past five years. In the last two years it has increased 36 per cent over the averages of 1923, 1929 and 1930. The trouble is known among commercial poultrymes as "fading-out" and it has caused the loss of thousands of dollars to southern California poultrymen. This trouble is not confined to this country. English poultrymen are complaining of a similar condition.—Los Angeles

The flies are attracted to freshly plowed ground for egg-laying. If the fields intended stated that all the mineral require-for beans have been plowed and ments of poultry flocks are supplied fitted in April or early May before the flies become abundant, the top soil will be dried out when they appear and the number of eggs deposited will be greatly reduced. Fields fertilized with barnyard manure just before planting are likely to harbor many maggots. It is, be scrubbed with a lye solution made therefore, better to apply the manure to some other crop in the rotation and to use commercial fertilizer on the beans.

If the beans are planted shallow so that they come up quickly, serious magget injury may be avoided. If the beans are planted with a drill there is a danger of getting them too deep in the soil. It is better to use a bean planter. Much may be done to prevent in ury by choosing a favorable time for planting. For the earlier maturng varieties it is sometimes a good plan to delay planting during periods of wet weather, but, of course, beans oust be planted in time for them to mature before frost. In Ulster counplace the feeders and water containty the maggots are ibundant in the soil during the last week in May and in the first week in June. tory of a waterfront tough guy well portrayed by Victor McLaglen in the first feature. He also is some-what of a scab in the opening part of the firm, for he sells out his friend for his own advantage. Later however, he proves himself a real fellow by making a noble sacrifice for the man he once betrayed. The girl in the story is Dorothy Dell, and she is well cast as the young lady who waits and waits for the man she loves. This man is played by Preston Foster, and due to McLaglen's selfish motives, Mr. Foster is a struggling victim of circumstances during most of the play. "Merry Wives of Reno" takes the divorce problem in a light vein. Glenda Farrell head; the cast.

Some authorities have maintained that the Egypties alphabetic symbols have no relationship whatever to the characters of the Semitic and Greek alphabets, On the other hand, they assert, there is very definite relationship between the Senitic and Greek alphabet and the later alphabets influenced by them. This contention has been opposed by other authorities.

Rats Originated in Asia; Were Not Known in Europe

Rats originated in Asia, and their conquest of the remainder of the world is a thing of comparatively medern times. The animal was unknown in ancient Europe. There is no blue rat, declares a writ er in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It is the black rat, which first came to Europe from central Asia, early in the Sixteenth century. In the latter part of the century it reached America. This was the common house rat until the brown or gray rat came. The latter is larger than the black rat, and more combative. It also came from India and Persia, through Russia, and was first seen at Astrakhan at the beginning of the Eighteenth certury. It made its appearance in Enrope in the middle of the century, and in America about 1775. In the years since it has quite driven the black rat from houses, and though the latter still lingers about wharves and granaries, and along river banks, it may be said to exist even in these places only on the sufferance of its stronger cousin. The house rat is often called the

Norway rat, from a mistaken tradities that it first came to Great Britain from

Wintergreen Plant a Vine

The wintergreen plant is really a vine, the stem creeping usually a little way below the ground. From this apring the small erect branches, three to five inches high. The stems are tough and brownish, with the leaves in clusters of twos and threes at the top. They are reddish-brown when young, and then are most tender to eat, becoming thick and dark green. The berries are a clear, bright rel. generally growing singly or in pair The flowers are usually solitary, growing from the axil of a leaf cluster. They are wavy-white and nodding They have a very long biossoming setson-from July to September. In the Middle West wintergreen is called box-berry or tea-herry, the latter because the leaves and berries are some times used to flavor tea, or as a substitute for tea. Oil of wintergrees. which is used as a flavoring extract or for making perfume, is obtained from the wintergreen plant. The same oil, oddly enough, is distilled from the

Caterpillars Lay Many Eggs; Hatch Next Year

There are various species of caterpillars, notes an authority in the Indianapolis News. For example, the test caterpiliar, which, full-grown, is about two inches long, black body with a well-defined white line down the middle with a row of blue spots along each side, dull reddish in color, which strips leaves of apple, wild cherry and other is both the fear and the hope of trees. Cold, drooping clouds hung over the farmlands but no helpful rain

In the tower of the state's office building at Albany, Roy L. Gillett, federal farm statistician, studied the ciouds for chances of rain before pastures are ruined for the season

In an office of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, L. R. Simons, director of extension, prepared to ask the federal government to come to the assistance of New York farmers if the drouth lasts a few days more.

It has been five weeks since rain has fallen in some counties. Commissioner of Agriculture Charles H. Baldwin, on a hurrled survey trip across the state, said at the Niagara-Orleans blossom festival at Lockport that reports show the recent winter was the mose serious on crops, perhaps, in the history of the state. He heard a report that

Bow and Arrow and Pinne The bow and arrow, strange to say, gave way to the grand plane. When the hunter or warrior pulled the string Team and sincle harness made and close to his ear he heard a rich twang as the string vibrated. So he began to develop instruments for producing sound by arranging two or three strings to a simple way. Throughout the ages this evolution went on to the finely-tuned instrument of today.

> Most interesting island The world's most interesting island from a scientific standpoint, is in the Indian ocean, about 400 miles east of Madagascur. It is known as Reunion faland, having an area of about 1,000 Square miles. It has eaks 15 to 20 feet long. Shells of lugs tortologs, 2 feet long and 18 inches acress, have been found, but these seem to be extinct.
